PRELIMINARY MEETING OF MEXICAN CONGRESS IS SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

There Is No Reason to Believe Congress Will Not Convene Despite Demand

PERPLEXING POSITION

U. S. Says Congress Must Not Meet Yet Law Provides Resignation Must Go to Congress

HUERTA ONLY HALF CONVINCED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 14.—President Huerta's attitude toward the demands of the United States that he make way for a new government is that of one only half convinced, notwithstanding the fact that some of his closest friends and political advisors are urging, although with due caution, that he accede. The representatives of this element in the cabinet conferred today with Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American charge d'affaires, but were given no assurances that President Wilson has unbent sufficiently to warrant hope that the negotiations will be re-opened. In spite of this however, those friends of Huerta who now are convinced that United States government is not fluffing believe they will yet be able to bring about the desired changes in time to prevent a complete rupture of diplomatic relations. This conviction is based upon the fact that Washington has not put into effect its implied threat to remove the embassy or announced any new course of action. Sir Lionel Carden, the British minister, has conveyed to Huerta an intimation that the United States is in earnest in its intentions and is said to have told the president that the British government is disposed to back the United States morally. For publication Sir Lionel was reticent regarding his representations to Huerta but it is an open secret that they were made and Huerta is said to have been deeply impressed when he realized that the nation which he had believed would stand by him indefinitely had joined with one he already regards as his enemy. That Huerta's friends are attempting to persuade him to vacate the presidency or at last to prevent the new congress from meeting is a feature of the situation that is not discussed by the Mexicans.

It is one of those subjects which is considered not safe to discuss and their efforts have been made more by means of intimations asd suggestions than by definite advice.

Huerta is said tonight to be considering his own elimination although this is always denied whenever the direct question is put to anyone connected with the government.

Tomorrow is the date fixed for the preliminary meeting of congress and tonight there appears to be no reason to believe that it will not convene notwithstanding the unequivocal demand of the United States that it should not do so. The meeting set for tomorrow is for nothing more than the presentation of members credentials and organization, after which, as is the usual custom there will be a lapse of several days before the congress meets to hear the president's message.

Huerta in Puzzling Position.

Those now lined up against Huerta admit, however, that his position is a perplexing one, since the law provides that the resignation of the president must be made to congress. The only congress in Mexico today is in jail and Huerta does not feel justified in compounding his humiliation, friends say, by sending his resignation to the penitentiary.

Advisors of Huerta who are sending an emissary to treat with Mr. O'Shaughnessy insist that this last demand of the United Sattes is an unreasonble one, since if the new congress is permitted to meet there then would be a body to which Huerta can send his resignition in due form and maintain his dignity. It is not denied that to permit congress to meet without previous assurances from the executive would be at best but a gamble, but it is contended that any other course is difficult on account of the laws governing the resignation of the president.

Congress Expected to Meet.

There is no doubt that congress is expected to meet tomorrow in preliminary session. Up to a late hour tonight no indication had come from the palace that the date for the convening of the legislative body had been posponed.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy has preserved a consistent silence regarding all developments of the situation. There is in all Mexico no man more carefully watched by personal friends as well as by government agents, to see that he does not leave town and thus confirm by act the ever-present rumor that he has been recalled.

A question which has been put to Mr. O'Shaughnessy inumerable times by representatives of the government who have called upon him since Mr. Lind passed out of the difficulty is regarding the identity of the man who could be named to succeed Huerta

Pedro Lascurain has been suggested as the logical successor to the presidency as he was secretary of foreign affairs at the time President Madero and Vice President Pino Suarez were eliminated. Lascurain then became president of the republic and held the position for forty-seven minutes, resigning in favor of Huerta, whom he had appointed to head the department of the interior, the ranking cabine post, as he did not name during his brief incumbency of the office of chief executive a new minister of foreign affairs.

Not Entirely Acceptable.

Lascurain as his sucessor does not appeal to Huerta and there is reason to doubt whether he is entirely acceptable to the constitutionalists.

Several ohers have been suggested but none is considered acceptable to both factions. It is doubtful whether Huerta would consent, except in the last extremiy to yield his position to General Venustiano Carranza, or to anyone else identified with the rebellion. It is certain that the constitutionalists will agree to no one identified with the government's following.

Instructions Sent O'Shaughnessy.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Instructions were sent to Charge O'Shaughnessy tonight indicating to him the extent to which the United States governmen will go in re-opening the negotiations with those counsellors of Provisional President Huerta who earlier in the day sought to renew the parleys.

The anxiety shown by these officials close to General Huerta was regarded as a favorable sign by high officials here who expected some definite assurances would be forthcoming quickly upon compliance with the American demand that the new congress be not convened and that Huerta be eliminated.

The position of the American government, however, is that unless something definite is promised by Huerta officials the resumption of the negotiations would be fruitless.

The Washington government will not resume negotiations with officials close to Huerta who are now urging further parleys until assurances can be given of Provisional President Huerta's intention to resign.

Refuses to go to Capital.

This was the status of the Mexican situation late tonight. Efforts by counsellors of Huerta to induce John Lind at Vera Cruz to re-open the entire subject had not been successful up to a late hour it was reported here. Mr. Lind refusing to go back to Mexico City unless some definite promises were forthcoming from General Huerta.

Chairman Bacon of the foreign relations committee, discussing dispatches from Mexico City stating that Huerta's counsellors were seeking to re-open the negotiations, declared that the only condition upon which that could be done would be the complete surrender of Huerta.

Though administration officials continued to be optimistic over the support that they were getting from the great powers abroad they did not discuss the situation in Mexico beyond indicating again that Huerta's elimination was inevitable.

Will Not Accept Mediation.

Dispatches from constitutionalist headquarters at Nogales, Sonora, announcing General Carranza's absolute refusal to accept any "transaction" with foreign nations looking toward a regulation of Mexico's internal affairs was not commented upon by government officials here. It was suggested in some quarters that General Carranza's declaration was intended chiefly to allay any feeling in Mexico that he was entering into alliances with the United States a situation that might be made an issue, it is realized here and develop discord among his followers.

Never Offered Mediation.

The Washington administration, however, through William Bayard Hale, it is stated on the authority of persons in President Wilson's confidence has never offered mediation or any other interference with a view toward regulating internal affairs in Mexico. The sole purpose of the parleys through Mr. Hale, it is pointed out, has been to obtain assurances of protection for all foreign interests in the event that the embargo on arms is lifted.

Hold Second Conference.

Nogales, Sonora, Mex., Nov. 14.—Before going into a second conference today with William Bayard Hale, President Wilson's special envoy, General Venustiano Carranza made the most explicit and definite statement he has yet uttered with reference to Huerta, the United States and the constitutionalists' revolutionary movement, of which he is the head.

"We will accept no transactions," he said, "nor the interference of any nation to regulate Mexico's interior conditions."

After the conference which continued for two hours this afternoon, Carranza was non-committal. Envoy Hale remained silent but it was evident that the parleys begun Wednesday were not finished.

Carranza's statement, however, referred to the negotiations with Washington and also to the suggestion from the American capital that further bloodshed might be avoided and peace and order restored if the contending factions could get together through the American agents. Hale and Lind, and agree upon a provisional president acceptable to all parties who would serve until a chief executive were chosen at a full and free election.

Wants Embargo Lifted.

"The only thing which we ask and which we are trying to obtain from the United States is the free importation of arms into Mexico."

This was the closing sentence of the statement which was given out as a final declaration. Spoken slowly and with a studied choice of words, it had the effect of finality with regard to any proposition which required of the constitutionalists any further than pledges they would eliminate Huerta in a short time if allowed to import munitions and that they would then establish order and representative government within a reasonable period.

The grave, reticent Mexican leader would say no more in amplication of his position but several of his lieutenants answering suppositions that it was a flat on the subject of intervention, declared Carranza's use of the word "interference" merely related to any form of mediation between himself and Huerta.

To all but the principals and the members of Carranza's cabinet the conference today was a motion picture. The conferees could be seen through the windows of the customs house which is the rebel leader's "ad interim" capitol but not a sound was caught.

Carranza talked slowly when he talked at all. Hale, the American envoy spoke animatedly.

Eager Americans and Mexicans pressed toward the aduana windows but unconcerned little brown sentrys kept them at a distance.

At the end of the conference Mr. Hale and General Carranza ceremoniously exchanged salutations.

The president's envoy made his way rapidly to the American side totelegraph the results of the session to Washington while the Mexican chief remained at headquarters.

CONFESSED MURDERER GETS DEATH SENTENCE

SLAYER OF MRS. REXROAT IS FOUND GUILTY ON SECOND BALLOT

Jury Is Unmoved By Efforts of Henry Spencer To Establish Belief That He Is Insane—Prisoner Curses and Reviles Own Counsel While on Witness Stand

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Henry Spencer, confessed slayer of Mrs. Mildred Allison-Rexroat, a dancing teacher, tonight was found guilty of murder by a jury at Wheaton, a suburb.

The death penalty was fixed by the jury which returned a verdict after little more than two hours deliberation. The first ballot was 11 to 1 for death penalty and the second ballot was unanimous in favor of sending Spencer to the gallows.

Spencer was arrested October 5th, accused of having lured Mrs. Rexroat to Wayne, Ill., and placing her body on the railroad track after he had shot her to death. Mrs. Rexroat's body was found early in the morning of September 27. Immediately after his arrest Spencer began a wholesale confession in which he declared he had murdered 29 persons, most of them women and nearly all for the purposes of robbery. Although the police proved that Spencer could not have committed many of these murders, they still maintain the belief that he killed at least one or two of the women in addition to the dancing teacher.

Ever since his arrest, Spencer has insisted that he be given the death penalty. When his trial began Monday, however, his attitude in the court room was one of such violence that Prosecutor Hadley saw in it, a well defined attempt to establish the belief that the defendant was insane. The jury, however, refused to be moved by these efforts.

Spencer was the only witness to take the stand for the defense. He testified today and for fifteen minutes held the attention of the court while he cursed and reviled his own counsel and the state's attornev.

Spencer's Nerve Fails Him.

Spencer broke into another stream of profanity when he heard the verdict read and then fainted in his chair.

"They'll hang me," he shouted. "They got me; they got me. How does the jury know I wasn't insane? I am insane. I am crazy."

In the absence of Spencer's counsel Judge Slausser entered the usual motion for a new trial and set the hearing for a week from aSturday.

DEMOCRATS FINISH WORK ON CURRENCY

Currency Reform Bill, as It Will Probably Go to Senate, Is Completed by Six Democrats

REPUBLICANS STILL AT WORK

Senator Hitchcock and Five Republicans Are Busy Writing Into Their Draft Amendments Which Wilson Opposes

MAY SEND BOTH BILLS TO SENATE

WSHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The administration currency reform bill, as it probably will go to the senate with the approval of President Wilson was completed tonight by six Democrats of the senate banking and currency committee. Senator Hitchcock and the five Republican members of the committee continued to write into their draft of the measure amendments of which the white house has disapproved. Arrangements probably will be made tomorrow to send both bills to the senate for consideration some time next week. The Democrats completed their draft after working all day and well into the evening in an effort to hurry the bill along. As completed the measure provides for a system of eight regional banks, to be capitalized by enforced subscriptions from the national banks of the country with unlimited powers of rediscount and currency issue and the power to hold reserves, the entire system to be under the control of a federal reserve board?

Make Minor Amendments.

In today's sessions the Democrats Chairman Owen and Senators Pomerene, Hollis, Reed, O'Gorman and Shafroth made minor amendments in the bill. They cut down the federal reserve board from nine, as fixed by a former vote of the committee, to seven as originally fixed in the house bill. The secretary of the treasury and six members to be appointed by the president "with regard to the financial, commercial and geographical divisions of the country," would compose the board. Each member would hold office for six years, the term of one member expiring each year and would receive $10,000 a year salary.

To Be Taken Up At Next Session.

Into the deliberations of high branches of the committee today the question of the guarantee of bank deposits was injected. It was reported during the day that the Democrats had adopted an amendment proposed in the senate by Senator Williams of Miss., providing for a tax of one percent on deposits to form a guarantee fund. After the bill was completed, however, the Democrats declared the matter had been set aside and with other matters would be considered in connection with a bill revising the banking laws to be taken up at the next session of congress.

The Republicans considered a proposition advanced by Senator Bristow providing that after the regional banks had paid five per cent dividends on their capital stock and had accumulated a 20 per cent surplus, the remainder of the earnings should be equally divided between the government and a fund to guarantee depositors. Senator Bristow was allowed time to draft his proposal into the earnings section of the bill. The administration bill will provide that the banks shall pay six per cent dividends on their stock accumulate a twenty per cent surplus and that all the earnings above that figure shall go to the government. The Democrats eliminated from the redemption section of the bill the provision that the new currency should be redeemable in "lawful money" as well as in gold. The redemption was made on a flat gold standard but it was provided that the new reserve notes might be held in reserve of member banks on the same terms as gold.

Senator Hitchcock and the Republicans holding that they were the only bona fide banking and currency commission organized today by designating Senator Hitchcock the "ranking Democrat" as chairman. They declared that the secret sessions of chairman and his administration senators were entirely outside of the activities of the committee. The mater probably will be straightened out tomorrow when the administration forces plan to go into the committee meeting and endeavor to arrange some program for a report.

Senator Hitchcock and the Republicans went after the bill in vigorous fashion. They eliminated entirely a provision allowing the appointment of receivers for insolvent regional banks, holding that a receiver would only tie-up the entire reserves of the banks and that there was no possibility of a regional bank failing.

Provision Against Receiver.

The administration senators put in a provision that no receiver should be appointed but that the federal reserve board should take possession of and administrate the functions of any regional bank which might become insolvvent.

The Republicans re-wrote the rediscount section to provide that any member bank with eligible paper might secure as a matter of right, re-discounts up to an amount equal to its capitalization. Above that figure the ir measure would provide a tax of one per cent for the first additional fifty per cent of the amount of the capital stock and two per cent for the second additional fifty per cent. Above this point the consent of the federal reserve board would be necessary to further rediscount. Under the administration bill the re-discount provision bill would be entirely controlled by the regional banks and would be unlimited.

In response to the plea of country banks that they would be unable to take advantage of the re-discount provision if only paper maturing within 90 days was eligible, the Republicans amended the bill to allow the regional banks to re-discount six months paper up to one half of the capital of a member bank, provided such re-discounts did not exceed $200,000.

Both Democrats and Republicans today adopted amendments giving the federal reserve board authority to remove directors of the regional reserve banks. The Republicans, however, provided that such removal must be preceded by notice and hearing of the directors.

The Republicans declared that they would be unable to present their final draft of the bill before the end of next week and that they would hardly be ready to report before a week from Monday. The Democrats, however, are anxious to get the bill before the senate and it is probable an agreement will be reached tomorrow to report it some time next week.

PETITION PRESIDENT WILSON TO INTERVENE

SUGAR AND RICE PRODUCERS FACE BIG LOSS THROUGH S P. STRIKE

Only Two Continental Passenger Trains Pass Through New Orleans Railroad Company is Willing to Arbitrate Differences.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—Except for two trans-continental passenger trains one arriving and one leaving here today, traffic on Southern Pacific railway in southern Louisiana is tied up by enginemen and trainmen.

The train arriving here this morning was manned by the road's division officials from Lafayette, La. A division terminal and the same crew took out the westbound train shortly before noon. No violence was attempted and the crew was not subjected to the usual hoots and jeers attending a strike. Local union officials at a meeting today told the men that atemps a violence would mean expulsion of he pepetrators from the union. They predict that the strike will spread to the west.

With the loss of millions of dollars staring sugar and rice producers of Louisana in the face because of the strike business men here today through a committee sent a long message to President Wilson appealing to him personally to intervene to help settle the strike.

Willing to Arbitrate.

New York, Nov. 14.—Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific announced this afternoon that the railroad company was willing to discuss with a representative committee of four labor organizations now on strike the question of inaugurating a system of dealing with controversies through a joint committee representing all four organizations.

Mr. Kruttschnitt said the company is willing to meet any committee of its employes and discuss questions at issue between the two interests and if unable to reach an agreement to invoke the aid of the board of mediation and conciliation and to submit the matter to arbitration.

Wilson Urges Mediation.

Washington, Nov. 14.—President Wilson tonight sent word to Judge W. Lea Chambers, commissioner of mediation and conciliation now in New York to get in touch with the strike situation on the Southern Pacific as quickly as possible.

Earlier in the day the president had called to the attention of Assistant Commissioner Hangar of the board of mediation and conciliation, the serious embarrassment to traffic resulting from the strike of trainmen and enginemen and urged him to go to New Orleans to arrange for mediation if possible.

WOULD TEACH MOTHERS OF SLUM BABIES INFANT HYGIENE

Speakers Assert This Would Be One of the Greatest Factors In Preventing Infant Mortality.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Teaching the "little mothers" of the slum babies infant hygiene was described as one of the greatest factors in preventing mortality by speakers at the opening session here of the fourth annual convention for study and prevention of infant mortality.

Tonight a general session at the national museum was addressed by Dr. Emil Holt of New York, president of the association. He declared that the infant mortality problem could be successfully solved by community interest and organization.

NEGRO GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 14.—Arthur Wilson, a 19 years old negro was today sentenced to life imprisonment for an attack on a 17 years old Galesburg girl. Wilson was attacked by a mob before his arrest a month ago and escaped lynching when he was locked in jail.

LIFE LOSS ON GREAT LAKES ESTIMATED 256

STORM CAUSES PROPERTY LOSS FIGURED AT MORE THAN $5,000,000

Only One Additional Boat Disaster Develops Friday, the Wrecking of Steamer Major—Identity of Overturned Vessel In Lake Huron Still Remains a Mystery.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 14.—For the first time since Sunday, a day has passed without revealing more lives lost in the storm which overwhelmed the Great Lakes, the early part of the week. Only one additional boat disaster developed today and that was the wrecking of the Steamer Major, off White Fish Point in Lake Superior, she was abandoned by her crew last night after a futile effort had been made to weather the second storm of the week. The crew was picked up by a passing steamer.

Tonight lift lost among sailors is estimated at approximately 256 and the property loss is figured at more than $5,000,000. The property loss include a score of vessels driven on the rocks or shore and partially or totally destroyed. One hundred and niety-five lives were taken on Lake Huron, if the approximate figures are correct, forty-eight lives were lost on Lake Superior, even on Lake Michigan and six in Lake Erie.. The steamers, the destruction of which entailed life loss, were John A. McGean, Charles Price, James S. Carruthers, Regina, Wexford, Argus, Hydrus, Scott, Leafield, William Nottingham, Henry B. Smith, Plymouth and light ship No. 82.

One of the strangest features of the general disaster is the mystery surrounding the identity of the overturned vessel in Lake Huron, just a few miles northeast of here. A driver went out again today, hoping to learn the name of the boat but high seas again prevented his work. Practically everyone acquainted with the situation believes the vessel is either the Price or the Regina.

No further details had been received up tonight concerning another vessel which was today reported lying bottom side up several miles north in Lake Huron. She may be any one of the missing vessels. But the reports indicate that she is likely to be the Carruthers.

Wreckers at work on the Steamer Matoa today abandoned her. She went on the rocks off Point Aux Barques and was so badly damaged that nothing can be done for her at this time.

Chicago Woman a Heroine.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Clarence Black, 1639 North Hancock street, Chicago, was the heroine of the wrecked Steamer Howard M. Hanna Jr., off Port Austin, Mich., Lake Huron, during the storm which swept over the Great Lakes, according to Arthur Jacobs boatswain of the craft upon his arrival here today.

Mrs. Black, the steward's wife, was the only cool one on the vessel after it went on the reef, Jacobs said. "While all the crew were huddled in the galley and mess room from Sunday night until Tuesday morning, Mrs. Black kept a fire going in the galley stove in spite of the water which was waist deep. She fed the twenty-five sailors and cheered them while the wind and waves were sweeping over the vessel and pounding to pieces. When it came for us to leave the ship and get into the life-savers' boat, Mrs. Black refused the courtesies extended to a woman in the time of danger at sea,' Jacobs said. "She took her turn in the order of her position and went over the side clad in the fireman's heavy shoes and will all the ear marks of a real sailor."

Jacobs said that most of the sailors were near death from cold and exposure when taken off and that when they were safe at Port Austin a purse was taken up for the woman.

Fear For Steamer Henry B. Smith

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 14.—Four oars and pike pole marked "Henry B. Smith" were picked up on the shore east of Marquette today by Dan Johnston, a land looker. The Steamer Henry B. Smith cleared Marquette in the height of the storm Sunday night and finding of the oars and small wreckage tends to confirm the fears of the last two days. It is thought that the boat gave up the attempt to make the Soo and sought to battle her way to shelter east of Keweenaw Point.

RECEIVES OVATION.

Rev. Frederic Baylis, who is rpresenting Chapin at the anti-saloon league convention in Columbus, spoke Tuesday night before an immense audience and received an ovation as he told his story "From the Bread Line to the Pulpit."

WEATHER INDICATIONS AND TEMPERATURES.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Illinois—Unsettled Saturday, probably rain; Sunday cloudy, warmer in north, moderate northwest to southwest winds.

Temperatures.

The current maximum and minimum temperatures for today were:

COLLAPSING OF NEW BUILDING BURIES FOURTEEN WORKMEN

FOUR TAKEN FROM RUINS

Four Are Rescued from Ruins While Others Are Believed to Be Beneath Mass of Concrete

HUNDREDS SEARCH FOR BODIES

BULLETIN.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Nov. 15.—The body of William Schneider, the foreman, was taken from the ruins at 1:30 this morning. George Burrell, one of the injured men first rescued, died at Mercy hospital. Nathan Houston is expected to die.

It is now believed that there are five bodies still in the pile of debris.. They are:

William Lowe, Supt.
Sid Dotty, hoisting engineer.
H. B. Wescott, laborer.
Ed Toran, colored, laborer.
Luther Moore, colored, laborer.

Moore went to work at noon Friday. He protested when the foreman gave him the number "13" saying he hated to take that number on Friday. He went to work on the promise that he should be given another number Saturday morning.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Nov. 14.—With a roar that was heard for blocks the rear forty feet of a seven story building nearing completion collapsed at 3:20 this afternoon, carrying with it fourteen men who were working on the concrete roof slab.

Four have been taken from the ruins, severely injured and the others are believed to be buried beneath a huge mass of concrete tile and twisted steel used in the reinforcement.

The Injured.

J. M. Gross, laborer, internal injuries, probably fatal.

George Burrell, colored laborer, skull fractured, serious.

Nate Hutson, colored, ribs broken, internally injured.

Charles Brown, ankle broken.

The Missing.

William Lowe, superintendent of construction, Waterloo, Iowa.

William Snyder, foreman, La-Crosse, Wis.

Sid Dotty, engineer.
W. F. Lowe.
D. D. Watson.
F. W. Bagley.
George Scott.
W. J. Schneider.
H. B. Wescott.
E. Toran.
I. G. Chaplin.
G. Quintana.

Hundreds Join Search.

While dozens of sobbing women and children and thousands of spectators surround the ruins tonight, hundreds of men are working with axes and shovels and with the aid of a big steam derrick removing the debris in a search for the bodies.

Up to eight o'clock none of them had been recovered. The four men taken from the ruins were located just after the building fell. They were pinned fast in the debris, but not buried and there cries attracted the rescuers. The building was being erected for Lyman Brothers company, wholesale milliners, by Lauritzen and Wasson, contractors, of Waterloo

It is seven stories, 60 by 140 feet. The concrete for the seventh floor was poured two weeks ago and the roof shed over the rear portion of the building was just in place. A portion of it gave way and fell to the sixth floor, where the concrete was not hardened. This gave way and in two or three seconds all the floors beneath had been cut straight down and were lying in a huge pile in the basement.

It may take all night and all day tomorrow to remove the debris and recover the bodies.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRES

Madero, head of he Madero family spent a mysterious twelve hours in Kansas City today and departed as mysteriously. His trunks were checked to El Paso, Texas.

Mr. Madero refused to discuss his visit or where he was going.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Nov. 14.—Hal. R. Wells of Des Moines, made a new record in an automobile run across the state of Iowa following the new "river to river" road. He covered the 300 miles between Davenport and Council Bluffs in 9 hours and 15 minutes, arriving here late today.

BINHGAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Firemen tonight were still fighting a fire which starting this afternoon in the M. F. Thompson specialty warehouse in the business section swept half a dozen business places. The flames, however, were well under control and it was estimated that the damage will not exceed $200,000.

Smith, John W. and Curtis Kelly of Nortonville.

She leaves 21 grandchildren, also 12 great-grandchildren, one brother William Edwards of Oklahoma, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah J. McFalls, of Jacksonville. Mrs. Kelly was converted and baptized at the Young Blood Baptist church several years ago and has lived a devoted and earnest christian life, being a kind and loving mother and a good neighbor, always striving to lend a kind word and a helping hand to those with whom she was associated. During the time of her illness and affliction and especially the last few weeks she has been a patient and willing sufferer, resigning herself and trusting wholly to the will of her Master, being ready and willing to go at the Savior's call to her home that she believed was waiting for her.

Besides the relatives, Mrs. Kelly leave a host of friends that will miss her and who extend their sympathy to the bereaved one.

Funeral Notice.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Kelly, was held at the Young Blood Baptist church at Nortonville, Friday, Nov. 14, 1913 at 10 a. m.

All of the children curviving her were present besides a large number of friends and relatives who showed how sincerely they sympathized with the bereaved ones and also of the respect they felt toward Mrs. Kelly. Rev. W. R. Johnson of White Hall, Ill., preached the funeral sermon and brought forth many good thoughts which were so well delivered as to bring comfort and consolation to the sorrowful. They appreciated by all present for the uplifting inspiration found in them.

The flowers were cared for by Ola Smith, Lodelle Fanning, Esther Story and Stella Kelly.

The bearers were: David Wilson, Guss Seymour, Walter Newby, Dr. C. E. Waters, Thomas Henry and R. W. Campbell. The family extends their thanks to all who were so kind to them during their mother's illness.

FIRST ANNUAL MEETING HELD BY CHRISTIAN CHURCHES.

County Organization Perfected and Reports Read at Central Christian Church Thursday.

The Christian churches of Morgan county were represented Thursday afternoon in a meeting at Central Christian church, at which an organization was formed, officers elected and plans discussed for getting in touch with one another and working together for the best results. This was the first meeting of its kind and was convened at the suggestion of the elders of the Central Christian church.

The officers elected were:

President—W. H. Crum of Literberry.

Vice president—Charles Gibbs of Lynnville.

Secretary-treasurer — Miss Mary Dewees of Jacksonville.

The principal address was made by Rev. Clyde Darsie, after which reports were read by representatives of the different churches. In the course of the afternoon the advantages were rbought out of co-operation in giving for home and foreign missions. Loss and gain in church membership and Sunday school enrollment and average attendance were among the other topics considered.

The churches represented from out of the city were Antioch, Berea, Literberry, Concord, Chapin, Lynnville, Waverly, Woodson and Franklin.

LOMBARD TEAM HERE FOR GAME

KNOX COUNTY FOOTBALL ELEVEN ARRIVED LAST NIGHT.

Will Meet Illinois College This Afternoon at 2:30 and Close Game Expected—Rain May Cause Contest to be Transferred to Deaf and Dumb Diamond.

Lombard college football team arrived in the city last night over the Wabash for the game today against Illinois college. Jupiter Pluvius started on a rampage last night and indications are that the players will have to be veteran mud horses, before the contest is over. The Illinois college management are hoping that the rain will stop in time to get the field in some kind of a presentable shape. If the Illinois college field is too wet it is possible that through the kindness of the Schooi for the Deaf, the game may be played on their new field.

According to dope it looks as though the two squads will fight it out to a finish today, although wet grounds always prevents a true exhibition of the popular sport. The Lombard team has been under the supervicion of Coach Brown, a farmer Miami university man. His men were practically new at the game and he has whipped them into line until their record this year has been a good one. They have only lost one game this season, that against Williams and Vashti, the score being 33 to 16. Their victories are as follows: Carthage, 0; Lombard, 59; Christian university, Mo., 13; Lombard, 36; Eureka, 0; Lombard, 20; Iowa Wesleyan, 7; Lombard, 7.

Coach Harmon did not have much chance to work out his men yesterday, but all are in good shape, except for a few small injuries. This will be the last time the Illinois bunch will be seen in action this season at home. On next Saturday the squad goes to Alton to meet Shurtleff and on Thanksgiving day the eleven meanders over to Aledo to meet the beefy bunch of Williams and Vashti.

Some changes will be made in the aspirants for the championship of minor colleges today. Millikin and Wesleyan meet on Millikin's field and Millikin is claiming a big boost up the ladded if she wins. But they have nothing over Lombard, because Lombard was beaten by W and V. by a score of 16 to 33, while W. and V. cleaned up on Millikin 33 to 0. If Wesleyan should win from Millikin that gives Illinois a bulge as Illinois took the contest from Millikin 10 to 9. Williams and Vashti were played to a 0 to 0 score yesterday by Lincoln and if Illinois cleans up on W. and V. turkey day the Aledo men will surely be out of the race. If Lombard wins from Illinois today that will give the Knox county aggregation a fighting chance for the flag.

The following will be the lineup:

Lombard—Wright, re; Stevens, rt; Wilson, rg; Hiller, c; Shinn, lg; Uhmack, lt; Leonard, le; Mackin, qb; Giles, (Capt.) rhb; Fiedisch, lhb; Rosequist, fb. Substitutes, Miller, Lots and Wagoner.

Illinois—Pierce, re; Frisbie, rt; Darragh, rg; Atchison or Maxey, c; Russel or Lukeman, lg; Mitchell or Russell, lt; McLaughlin, le; Stewart or Gary, qb; Wilson, rhb; Stewart, lhb; Alford, (Capt.) fb.

It is probable that John Larson will either act as referee or umpire. Harold Wagoner, who is a substitute player on the Lombard team is the son of Dr. Elizabeth Wagoner of this city.

A HAPPY CHILD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

When cross, constipated or if feverish give "California Syrup of Figs" then don't worry.

Mothers can rest easy after giving 'California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it cannot cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.—Adv.

EIGHTIETH BIRTHDAY OBSERVED FRIDAY

EDMUND BLACKBURN HAS REACHED FOUR SCORE MARK IN LIFE JOURNEY.

Came to New York From England in 1842—Voyage on Sailing Vessel Occupied Nearly Six Weeks—Parents Purchased Part of John J. Hardin Lands in Ebenezer Neighborhood—Dinner Friday a Pleasant Affair.

The 80th birthday of Edmund Blackburn was duly observed Friday at his home six miles northwest of Jacksonville, where members of his immediate family and near relatives gathered to pay him honor and to enjoy the hospitality of the home.

To live in one community and practically upon one farm for seventy years is not given to many men in the course of life but such is Mr. Blackburn's record. He was born in Yorkshire, England, Nov. 14, 1833, and with his parents sailed for America in 1842. The family spent a year in New York and then came west, settling in the Ebenezer neighborhood. That was seventy years ago and during all that long period the Blackburn name has stood untarnished in the community and the county.

Came From England in 1842.

Mr. Blackburn is still able to get about and attend to affairs of business and for a man who has seen four score years has remarkable vitality of mind and body. Out of a family of eleven he was next to the oldest son and it has been his lot to survive all his brothers and sisters and he is today the last of his line save for his own sons. Mr. Blackburn has a good memory and while he finds joy in the present and hope in the future, he still likes to take the backward look and to live over again the days of his childhood. He well remembers when with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew Blackburn, and with brothers and sisters, he set sail from Liverpool for the land of promise. It was in truth a "setting sail" for the family along with about 350 other passengers embarked on the sailing vessel, "The Delaware," and after a voyage of five and a half weeks partly through a stormy sea anchored off New York harbor. One notable feature of the voyage was that whole one sailor fell off the jib into the sea and was drowned, yet when the boat anchored the number of persons on board was no less than at the start, for a child was born one day before half the journey had been finished.

Some Stormy Days at Sea.

While the boat was well built and safe it was not elaborately furnished as are the passenger carrying craft of the present day. This vessel had been built originally for freight service and after some remodeling was turned into passenger traffic. The remodeling too as Mr. Blackburn remembers it was not of a very elaborate kind and the berths in the second cabin were arranged three high while trunks and boxes were piled along the corridor or passageway. The result was that on stormy days as the vessel lurched before the wind the trunks were often shifted from one side to the other much to the annoyance and sometimes the danger of the passengers. This was especially true of the children and when the sea was at all rough the children were kept in the berths or at least carefully watched to see that the moving trunks did not injure them.

Family Settled First in New York.

When New York was reached the Blackburn family with their 1900 pounds of baggage and household effects went ashore. After a very brief stay in the metropolis they went to the vicinity of Cooperstown, N. Y., where they had some friends and thought of locating. Mathew Blackburn, the father, had come to the new country with the wish in his mind that each of his sons should own a farm but he very soon decided that the land in New York was not fertile enough and that there was too much stone in the soil. So he determined to come further west but on account of the illness of one member of the family remained in New York for a year. Meanwhile he sent letters to persons he knew asking for information about various parts of the country. He decided to move to a point in Ohio of which he had a favorable report and started westward by the lake route. But before reaching his destination he was warned that yellow fever was raging in the neighborhood where he had intended to settle and so he determined to accept the advice of a nephew, Henry Blackburn, who had for several years been living in Jacksonville and to come to Illinois. The nephew had promised to meet the new comers in Chicago and accompany them to this county.

Came by Boat From Chicago.

So in 1843 Henry Blackburn journeyed to the then little town of Chicago and met his kinsmen. The family and their belongings were taken by wagons to Peru on the Illinois river, then came by boat to Meredosia, where wagons were again put into service and they landed in the county which was to be their permanent home. Not long afterward the father purchased from a Mr. Tucker 250 acres of land in the Ebenezer neighborhood, the tract on which Edmund Blackburn's home is now located. A little later he bought 160 acres nearby belonging to the estate of Col. John J. Hardin. For the last tract he paid $505 and for the former purchase about $8 per acre. A home was soon built and there Mathew Blackburn and his saintly gentle wife gathered their children about them and taught them the worthy lessons of life and the way to prepare for world usefulness. Mathew Blackburn died in 1864, leaving a considerable estate and his wife survived him until 1875. The sons and daughters, all of whom have now gone on before, except Edmund Blackburn, were Mrs. Ann Mattingly, Mathew Blackburn, Mrs. Elizabeth Masters, Edmund, Mrs. Sarah Walton, Mrs. Martha Neal, Joseph, Mrs. Jennie Walter, John George and Mrs. Cassandra Barrows.

A Candle For Every Year.

For the birthday party yesterday Mrs. Blackburn and her daughters had made generous preparations and the dinner served at 12:30 o'clock was a very sumptuous one. The place cards gave not only the names of the guests but a line or verse descriptive of each as well. The little children were served at a special table in the hallway but they all came trooping into the big dining room when as the crowning feature of the event they saw borne in, a huge birthday cake with eighty tiny flaming candles. Following the dinner several hours were spent socially and the day while gloomy out of doors was otherwise full of pleasure. In preparation for the day Mr. Blackburn had written out briefly a review of the years, telling what his hopes and wishes had been, some thing of his struggles and burdens as well as his joys and holding up for his children the highest ideals and hopes. This tender and loving message was read by one of the daughters to the immediate members of the family.

Years Worth While.

Although eighty years are his, Mr. Blackburn does not seem near the end of the journey and there is reason to hope that he may be spared for years to that community where he has been so long a potent influence for that which is righteous and uplifting. A man of exceptional piety, stern in principle but tender of heart, strong in worldly wisdom, but with a vision extending to that "other life" he represents a type of splendid manhood, rare in any day, far too rare today. Some of the letters and cards to be received yesterday from friends indicated clearly that he has not lived in vain and that his character has been appreciated.

At the dinner yesterday the following were present: Dr. Henry Blackburn and daughter, Miss May, of Princeton; Mrs. Charles Scott and children, Carlyle, Mary Francis and Claribel, of Del Norte, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Campbell, Gerald and Lois Campbell of Tuscola; Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Dinwiddie, Edmund and Helen Dinwiddie; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Martin and son John, Misses Luella and Ella Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Blackburn and son William, Mrs. George Blackburn, Misses Etta, Florence and Stella Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Walter, Frank Masters, Miss Jessie Masters, Miss Idella Walton, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walton and son.

ECHOES FROM ALEXANDER

Alexander Happenings Always Interest Our Readers.

After reading of so many people in our town who have been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills, the question naturally arises: "Is this medicine equally successful in our neighboring towns?" The generous statement of this Alexander resident leaves no room for doubt on this point.

John William Aulabaugh, farmer, Alexander, Ill., says: "About two years ago I took several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and will say that they did me more good than all the doctors I had tried. I have been bothered very little with my back since I used Doan's Kidney Pills."

The above is not an isolated case. Mr. Aulabaugh is only one of many in this vicinity who have gratefully endorsed Doan's. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Aulabaugh had. 50c all stores. ## That Wonderful Event

IF THERE is a time above all times when a woman should be in perfect physical condition it is the time previous to the coming of her babe.

During this period many women suffer from headache, sleeplessness, pains of various description, poor appetite, and a host of other ailments which should be eliminated in justice to the new life about to be ushered into this world.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

is a scientific medicine carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to the needs and requirements of woman's delicate system. It has been recommended for over forty years as a remedy for those peculiar ailments which make their appearance during "the expectant" period. Motherhood is made easier by its use. Thousands of women have been benefited by this great medicine.

Your druggist can supply you in liquid or tablet form, or you can send 50 one-cent stamps for a trial box of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription Tablets, to Dr. Pierce, at Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM PLAYS BEARDSTOWN TODAY

Special Train Will Take Players and Big Crowd of Rooters to See Football Contest This Afternoon.

Final arrangements have been made for the special train over the Burlington which will take the Jacksonville High School football team and rooters to Beardstown today where they will meet the strong Beardstown High school eleven. The train will leave Jacksonville at 1 o'clock and will return in the evening after a reception is concluded which will be tendered the visitors, probably arriving in Jacksonville being 11 o'clock.

Just what the outcome of the game will be is problematic. Beardstown boosts that they have gone through the season with a clean slate. They are said to have a heavy team and the fact that the grounds will be wet give a heavy team an advantage. The Beardstown lads are banking much on winning the contest and so the game promises to be one hard fought and interesting throughout. If the weather fairs it is expected that the special train will take over one hundred and fifty. Supt. Gore expects to take over his band and they will furnish music before the game and between the quarters.

While all the championship bees are buzzing over the country the local players expect to have a hand in the pie and will give a demonstration of their rights next Saturday when the strong Peoria Manuel Training team comes here for a game. This team plays against the Springfield High school team today in Springfield. The team is in pretty fair shape for the fray and E. O. Tandy will act as the umpire. Beardstown is to furnish a referee.

The following is the lineup announced by Coach Buland: L. I. Wood or Whitlock, re; H. Williamson or Briscoe, rg; L. P. Wood, rt; Berryman, c; Reynolds or Dickson, lg; Strawn, lt; Herring, le; Reynolds or Johnson, qb; Sutherd, rhb; Haigh, (Capt.), lhb; Killibrew, fb.

RUB SORE, LAME BACK STOPS BACKACHE AT ONCE

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.—Adv.

So many were kept from attending by the inclement weather and rough roads that the league decided that it would be wise in the near future to repeat the program.

Among the numbers presented were a series of tableau by Earl Johnston and Miss Elsie York of the city. Some readings by Mrs. Henry Robinson, a dialogue by twelve members of the league, solos by the Rev. Ray H. Bracewell and orchestra music by Roscoe Linder, Fred Carter, Roy Paschall and Miss Ethel Thoamson.

AT THE GRAND.

Friday, the closing day of the two days engagement of the Edison talking pictures at the Grand, drew large crowds at both performances and in spite of the rain at night nearly all the seats were filled.

The pictures were shown in connection with the Grand's regular picture program and won immediate favor with the large audience. Twelve distinct scenes were given and at the opening of the Kinetophone performance a picture was thrown on the screen showing an announcer telling of the possibilities of these talking motion pictures, after which several performers appeared to show that all kinds of sounds can be reproduced. The illusion was quite remarkable and the performance one well worth seeing.

WOMAN SICK FOURTEEN YEARS

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.:—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit you have my permission to publish them."—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

WATERY BLISTERS ON CHILD'S FACE

Kept Scratching Until Cheeks Fiery Red. Skin Cracked and Scaly. Itched and Burned. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. No Return of Trouble.

Smithville, Ind. — "Six months ago our baby girl, one year old, had a few red pimples come on her face which gradually spread causing her face to become very irritated and a fiery red color. The pimples on the child's face were at first small watery blisters just a small blotch on the skin. She kept scratching at this until in a few days her whole cheeks were fiery red color and instead of the little blisters the skin was cracked and scaly looking and seemed to itch and burn very much.

"We used a number of remedies which seemed to give relief for a short time then leave her face worse than ever. Finally we got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I washed the child's face with very warm water and Cuticura Soap, then applied the Cuticura Ointment very lightly. After doing this about three times a day the itching and burning seemed entirely gone in two days' time. Inside of two weeks' time her face seemed well. That was eight months ago and there has been no return of the trouble." (Signed) Mrs. A. K. Wooden, Nov. 4, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold by dealers throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

SECRETARY HOUSTON ADDRESSES GRANGE

ASSERTS FEW LOCALITIES ARE DEVELOPED TO INSURE MAXIMUM RETURNS.

Secretary of Agriculture Declares That Less Than Twelve Per Cent of the Cultivated Lands Are Yielding Maximum Returns—Touches Upon Subject of Rural Credits.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 14.—Less than forty per cent of the cultivated land in the United States is reasonably well cultivated and less than twelve per cent is yielding maximum returns. Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture, told the National Grange Patrons of Husbandry in 47th annual convention here today, that the best figures he could procure led to such a conclusion and that only in a very few localities had conditions been developed to insure maximum returns.

Secretary Houston touched upon rural credits marketing methods, extension of agricultural education, and the cost of living. He spoke of "manipulations of those middle men who perform no useful or necessary service," as one of the causes of soaring prices.

"I do not entertain the thought for a second that we have approximated the limit of our output from the soil," said he. "We have not even reached the end of the pioneering stage. We have been so bent on building up great industrial centers by ever natural and artificial device that we have had little time to think of the very foundaion of our industrial existence.

"We had better frankly face the fact that we are relatively inefficient, take stock of our short coming and earnestly seek the remedy. That we have practically reached the stage where we have ceased to be an exporting nation of food products and are becoming dependent on foreign nations for the necessaries of life, is a sad commentary upon our use of the opportunities bestowed upon us."

Middle Men Non-Producers.

Speaking of what the agricultural department hopes to do to solve the problem of the increasing cost of living Secretary Houston expressed the opinion that "the existing chaos and consequent wastes, result from faults on the part of the farmer in the growing and handling of his products; from the machinery of distribution including physical equipment and physical handling; from the manipulation of those middle men who perform no useful and necessary service; and from ignorance on the part of the consumer and of the producer of the character of the product which is placed upon the market."

Secretary Houston urged co-ordination of federal and state agricultural agencies as essential to success, deplored the jealousy which, he declared, exists in many states between the state agricultural commissions and the agricultural colleges, and decried duplication of work in many localities.

Studying Marketing Problems.

In the field of marketing, he declared, there was danger that pressure would be brought to bear to force the department to act everywhere before it was intelligently prepared to act anywhere. He explained that his department which started last summer to make a careful sudy of the marketing problem was studying it from every angle.

There was the same danger in regard to the question of rural credits. 'I am not impressed," he said, "with the money of all the people through bonds or other devices and lend it to the farmers or to any other class at a rate of interest lower than the economic conditions would normally require and at a rate of interest lower than that at which other classes are securing their capital. This would be legislation of a particularly odious type, and no new excursions in this direction would be palatable when we are engaged in the gigantic task of restoring the simple rule of equity."

Individual Farmer Helpless.

Before the problems of rural credit and marketing the secretary declared the individual farmer acting alone was helpless. Nothing less than concerted action would suffice. he said, and the "same business sense and the same organizing genius which have placed this nation in the front rank of industry must be involved in agriculture."

The problem of the individual farmer, said the secretary, had received scant systematic attention and the problem of rural life as a whole had until recently been practically ignored. From every section of the country, he declared came the story of "increasing tenancy and absentee ownership, of soils depleted and exploited, of inadequate business methods, of chaotic marketing and distribution, of inferior roads, of lack of supervision of public health, and sanitation, of isolated and ill organized social activities and of inferior intellectual provision." He added, however, that he was not of the pessimists and expressed his belief that out of the chaos would come order, better and bigger crops, improved living conditions in the country and relief to the city dweller through greater productivity of the soil and a businesslike overhauling of marketing methods.

Problem Clearly Economic.

Speaking of the need of better educational opportunities in the country, Secretary Houston declared that if more enlightened attention were devoted to the conservation and development of the people "we shall be relieved of much of the concern about the conservation and development of our natural resources."

The approach to the problem of the organization of rural life, he declared, was clearly economic. The great need, he said, was to give the rural population, at least, approximately the primary advantages which the town enjoys.

WILL SINK MORE WELLS.

The city council is now making preparations to sink more wells on the Widenham and Daub land. Commisioners Brennan and Knollenberg spent sometime at the wells Thursday going over the ground. The plan is to buy the machinery necessary and to have the prospecting and drilling done by city employes. According to Mr. Brennan the five wells on the Widenham and Danb land which are now being pumped are holding up in flow and it is his belief that more wells will supply all the city needs. As it is now, because of the unusual demands from customers not usually carried, it is necessary to pump some each day from the creek or the lake. Mr. Brennan said that pumping was kept up for eight to twelve hours each day from the creek or lake, but that this did not mean that anything like half of the city supply was coming from hese sources.

WATER FROM CARROLLTON

The relief of the water situation in White Hall has been solved by securing the much coveted fluid from Carrollton. Arrangements have been made whereby the city of White Hall, the sewer pipe factory and the public service company jointly agree to take 600,000 gallons per day: It will require a train of six or seven cars every night to do the hauling. The price agreed upon is ten cents per thousand gallons.

SEVERE STORMS ARE CHECK ON BUSINESS

OUTDOOR WORK HINDERED AND RAILROAD TRAFFIC IMPEDED.

Low Temperatures However, Accelerate the Demand For Heivyweight Apparel and Fuel—Signs of Trade Recession Are By No Means Uniform.

New York, Nov. 14.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say: Severe storms this week caused interruption to business in certain sections and also involved considerable property loss. Outdoor work was hindered and railroad traffic impeded causing a check to the movement of freight affecting both manufacturing and distribution somewhat. Advantages accrued, however, from the low temperatures and snow, which accelerated the demand for heavy-weight apparel, footwear and fuel.

Broadly considered the mercantile and industrial situation continues fairly satisfactory and signs of trade recession are by no means uniform. Rather more encouraging conditions prevailing in iron and steel. Developments in the Mexican situation were an important factor in financial circles, with the better outlook reflected in a more confident feeling and a rising tendency in securities.

Bradstreets' Review.

New York, Nov. 14.—Bradstreets' tomorrow will say: Current trade reports winter wheat crop advices and consumption of steel products indicate good present conditions but future buying is low, conservatism is in evidence, finished steel is weaker as the result of increased competition for orders and industry is running at a slower gait, though the quieting down is not general and it is significant that numerous industries are being pushed to make deliveries. Conservatism displayed is largely due to uncertainty over tariff readjustments, which it is thought may force lower prices. Another factor that exerts a strong deterring influence is the absence of a free market for loans. But in many quarters considerable improvement work is planned for the spring of 1914 and optiimism still prevails.

Business failures for the week were 305 which compares with 260 in 1912.

CHILD WELFARE EXPERTS GATHER IN WASHINGTON

Fourth Annual Session Attracts Workers—Eugenics an Important Subject Discussed.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The four day session of the fourth annual meeting of the American Society for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, which opened here today has attracted a large number of child welfare experts, physicians, statistisians and representatives of various boards and organizations in some way concerned with the welfare of infants. Dr. L. Emmett Holt of New York, the president of the organization, called the gathering to order and will preside at all meetings.

Eugenics and parental care are two of the most important subjects which will be discussed during the meeting. Other topics which will be taken up and discussed fully by the scores of delegates include problems of infant hygene and infant feeding, standards of training for infant welfare nursing, continuation schools of home making, the relation of vital statistics to plans for social betterment, and the relation of the plan for the conservation of infant life to the general ideals of conservation.

Among those who have been placed on the program for discussion of the subject of parental care, which will be taken up at tomorrow's session, is Mrs. Max West of the United States children's bureau, who is the author of the recently published government document on parental care. Dr. J. W. Schereschewsky of the public health service has been assigned to lead the discussion on the relation of heat and infant mortality. A symposium on the use of vital statistics in preserving infant life will be opened by Dr. W. C. Woodward, health officer of the District of Columbia. This will include brief statements by various health officers and others on the necessity of bettering the system of keeping birth statistics in this country. Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur of the census bureau is expected to be one of the speakers on that subject.

FOOTBALL SEASON REACHES CLIMAX

GREAT INTEREST IN OUTCOME OF THREE BIG BATTLES TODAY.

Chicago and Minnesota Will Decide "Big Nine" Honors—Kansas and Nebraska Will Fight for Missouri Valley Championship—Michigan Meets Pennsylvania.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—The football season of 1913 has reached its climax. On the outcome of three big battles tomorrow representative elevens of the central states have staked their year's ambition, Chicago and Minnesota contending for the conference championship and Nebraska and Kansas struggling to survive in the race for Missouri Valley honors; and Michigan fighting against Pennsylvania to maintain the west's clean supremacy for the season.

The game at Minneapolis comes as near being a titanic struggle as any game played in the conference for years. As the season has advanced both Gophers and Maroons have shown increased strength, each team probably being at the height of its development. Coach Williams has strained the Minnesota team for this game, since the beginning of the season Coach Stagg has planned the work of the mid-way boys for this contest, both tutors having believed that on its result depended the highest honors in the "big nine." With no direct comparison possible from their performances this season, it is generally considered the teams are evenly matched.

Nebraska's defeat of Minnesota early in the season is regarded as no fluke west of the Missouri, but though late reports indicate that Coach Steihm will send the same men against Kansas tomorrow who accomplished the Gopher's rout a feeling bordering on confidence is apparent in the Lawrence camp.

The Kansas coaches have faced the problem of preparing for successive important games—Nebraska's tomorrow and Missouri's a week later—but anxious to down the Cornhuskers they will put their strongest team in the field. Utter rout has been the fate of ea stern teams with westerners this season and Michigan rooters even the most conservative, believe the Wolverines have at least a fighting chance to down the Quakers and keep the record clean.

Wisconsin is an idle member of the big nine tomorrow. Iowa has a game with Ames that is expected to settle the state championship and Ohio state is scheduled for a hard battle with Case.

Northwestern hopes for beating Indiana are offset by recent advices which indicate a shift in lineup, has brought encouragement to the Hoosiers,. Illinois and Purdue, whose bids for conference honors sent scares throught their competitors are to meet in a bitter struggle. An interesting contest is likely between South Dakota and the Michigan aggies for the former it is said will send its strongest team against the Lansing eleven. Missouri should have little trouble in disposing of Washington.

Northwestern University football players tonight declared they were confident of beating Indiana tomorrow. Coach Dennis Grady was less sanguine, but said the team had a chance of making a good showing.

Eastern College Games.

New York, Nov. 14.—Football games which will have a decided bearing on the final ranking of eastern college elevens for the season of 1913 form the feature contests of tomorrow in the gridiron world along the Atlantic coast.

All roads lead to New Haven tonight, for the clans are gathering to witness the final big gridiron encounter to be staged on Yale field. It falls to the lot of Princeton to be old "Eli's" guest in the ceremonies that will mark the passing of this famous football arena and it appears as though the Tigers were in for a strenuous round of festivities, since the Eli's are determined to close the field's history with a victory if possible.

While Princeton and Yale are grappling at New Haven, Dartmouth and Carlisle will be engaged at the Polo grounds, in this city. This game which is expected to be one of the most spectacular of the season, if played upon a dry field, as seemed probable tonight should develop a remarkable exhibition of open football.

Harvard is not called upon to meet a particularly formidable foe in Brown and for that reason the leading Crimson coaches and several of the star players will attend the Yale-Princeton game in order to secure a further line on the ability of the men who must be met a week hence at Cambridge. The Army has Villa Nova as its opponent while the Navy will line up against Pennsylvania State at Annapolis. Another game which is attracting much attention in the south is the University of Virginia vs. Georgetown university at Washington.

"RUBE" WADDELL HAS TUBERCULOSIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—In spite of his belief of a week ago that he was suffering only from a slight attack of bronchitis "Rube" Waddell, well known as a basball pitcher left Minneapolis tonight to begin a battle with tuberculosis in his sister's home in San Antonio, Texas. His physician said tonight that Waddell's chances for recovery are slight.

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

Some of our pugs have become dissatisfied with the size of the purses the promoters of late have been hanging up for their services and are making preparations to leave for Australia in the hope of returning to the United States as millionaires. Eddie McGoorty, Ray Bronson and Milburn Saylor have formed a combination and will tour the under side of the globe under the direction of a New Zealand manager. Other Yankee boxers who have invaded the land of the kangaroo were more than happy when they could earn a meal ticket by their performances before the clubs in that country; some of them not doing that well. Sam Langford, Billy Papke, Jack Willie and other top-notchers would have had to return as stowaways had they been compelled to depend upon the purses offered there. When Langford returned to this country after a year's tour of the British archipellego, during which time he engaged in eight contests, he was nearly a financial wreck. He met the very best men in the Antipodes and defeated them for small purses, many of which were never paid, and the experience of Sam was the same that Jack Johnson, Tommy Burns, Papke, Willie and other American boxers "enjoyed" at the hands of those foreign match-makers.

President Gilmore of the Chicago Federal league club has replied to Garry Herrmann's Columbus, Ohio, speech. In his reply he says some tart things about Garry and his organized baseball clique. He reiterates the stand taken by his parent body at its Indianapolis convention two weeks ago; i. e., that players under contract to the organized combines will not be approached, but maintains it is the right of the men not tied up by an agrement to choose their own employers. It is the latter class of players the Federal league is after and will secure if a guarantee of fair treatment and commensurate pay for their services are an inducement.

Several deals were made before the close of the meeting of minor leagues at Columbus on Thursday. Heine Peitz was signeed by Tebeau to manage Kansas City next season to replace Charley Carr, who it is rumored will manage the Federal league club at Indianapolis. Marty O'Toole's battery partner, Catcher Mike Kelly, has been sold to Toronto by Pittsburgh, and Grover Land, formerly a Cleveland backstop, has been disposed of by Toledo to Indianapolis. Milwaukee was in quest of a shortstop to replace Blackburn, who returns to the White Sox, but Manager Clark sidestepped the material offered.

Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the English professional golfers, have sailed for home with a sack full of American dollars gathered in different parts of this country during the past three months. Before departing they had much to say about the Yankee golfers and Yankee links. In their opinion "Chick" Evans is the only real golfer on this side of the big ditch. Vardon opines that the Chicagoan is the best he ever met. Francis Ouimet he does not consider a wonder, although the latter trimmed him for the championship. The English grounds are more difficult to negotiate, he claims, and the boy wonder would find it more of a task to defeat him there. Vardon and Ray are excellent examples of the Englishman in defeat, and their belch is only a repetition of a continued story from the days of Old South Church, Bunker Hill and Valley Forge.

* * *

The fans at Oakland, Cal., did not "go crazy" in an effort to witness the White Sox-Giants game. Only a handful of the faithful were on hand Thursday to witness the Indian Jim Thorpe bobble Sam Crawford's long fly and present the game to the Callahan tribe.

* * *

Two important football games will be contested in the west today. In Minneapolis the Chicago Maroons will tackle the Gophers of the University of Minnesota. Upon the result of this game will depend the conference championship. Pennsylvania and Michigan will clash at Ann Arbor for the ninth time, the descendants of Father Penn having won five of the series. This game will be the last and most important inter-sectional struggle of the year and a stirring battle is looked for.

CHICAGO WHITE SOX WIN.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—McGraws' New York National league champions lost today to the Chicago Americans 3 to 2.

The White Sox made their three runs in the ninth inning when Fromme was clouted for two runs and driven to the bench. He was relieved by Tesreau, who allowed Schalk, the first man up to double to center, scoring Evans with the winning tally.

The score:

| | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 000 | 000 | 001 | 2 | 7 | 1 |
| Chicago | 000 | 000 | 003 | 3 | 8 | 1 |

JIM M'GUIRE BATS OUT HALF CENTURY MARK

Famous Base Ball Player and Scout Celebrates Birthday.

Detroit, Nov. 14.—Jim McGuire, one of the best known figures in baseball and at present a scout for the Detroit team, reached the half-century mark today, having been born Nov. 14, 1863. The "Deacon," as he is familiarly known, is native of Cleveland. At the age of 20 he began his professional career with the Terre Haute club. He began the next season with the Cleveland National league team, but was released and finished the season with the Toledo American association club and was one of the players transferred at the end of that season to the Detroit club.

In 1886 the "Big Four" deal went through and McGuire was transferred to Philadelphia with Wood and Casey. The following season McGuire played with the Phillies and made a great record, but in the early part of 1888 he was again transferred to the Detroit club, and later on to his first love, the Clevelands. The Toronto club snapped him up in 1889 and in 1890 he was with the Rochesters. From 1891 to 1897 he was with Washington and during the next five years he played with Brooklyn. In 1902 he jumped to the Detroit American leagne club and the next season he was transferred to the New York Americans. After 25 years of yeoman service upon the diamond, McGuire became manager of the Boston Americans in 1906. Later he filled a similar berth with the Cleveland club. He wa sa wel known figure on the diamond long before some of the present day stars were born. Notwithstanding this fact, the "Deacon" is by no means an applicant for membership in the down and out club.

TO PLAN UNITED LIQUOR FIGHT.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 14—Following in the wake of the biennial convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America, which closed its four days' session yesterday, another even larger and more important gathering in the interest of prohibition opened here today. The gathering includes representatives and duly appointed delegates of practically all temperance and prohibition organizations of the country, of the various religious and semi-religious organizations and many hundreds of persons not directly connected with any society or other organization engaged in the fight against liquor, but greatly interested in the subject for scientific, sociological, hygienic or other reasons. To bring about an amalgamation of all the temperance and prohibition forces of the country into one organization and to plan a united educational and legislative campaign against the liquor evil is the object of the large gathering which will remain in session several days. Many noted advocates of prohibition are among those in attendance and will deliver addresses and take part in the discussions of the plans to be formulated for a concerted campaign against liquor.

PRINCIPAL STOCKS SHOW FAIR GAINS

BUSINESS IS ALMOST ENTIRELY PROFESSIONAL.

Mexican Situation Overshadows Every Other Consideration Influencing the Stock Market—Advices Regarding Mexico Are Conflicting.

(By Associated Press.)

New York, Nov. 14.—At the end of a day of mixed price movements and considerable confusion in speculative sentiment the principal stocks showed net gains of fair proportions. Business was almost entirely professional and traders concerned themselves primarily with attempting to interpret the news from Mexico in terms of stock market quotations.

The Mexican situation has exercised a steadily increasing influence on the stock market during the last few weeks until at present it is recognized as overshadowing all other considerations.

The improvement late yesterday based on the hopeful utterances of the president, was continued in the early trading today. Advices regarding Mexico were conflicting, however, and the market gradually fell back until the early rise was lost. Late in the session the market picked up again.

The readiness with which the market yielded after the opening rise was due in part to the desire of traders to realize on holdings of long stock.

New Haven was again weak, reaching a new low level at 75¼. The Southern Pacific strike caused that stock to drag behind and Missouri Pacific was affected by a continuance of the selling which has been in progress. Assets realization dropped three points, extending its decline this week to 14 points.

HEAVINESS PERVADES THE WHEAT MARKET

STOCKS REPORTED TO BE RAPIDLY ACCUMULATING IN SOUTHWEST.

Corn Develops Strength Despite Dullness of Shipping Trade—Offers From Country Are Notably Scarce—Oats Hold Firm Notwithstanding Meagerness of Demand.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Heaviness pervaded the wheat market today the greater part of the time. Stocks were reported to be rapidly accumulating southwest and there was pressure by offerings here from Nebraska. Closing prices, though steady, were ⅛ to ¼c under last night. Other articles all showed a net gain—corn ⅜c to ⅝c, oats a shade to ⅛ to ¼c and provisions 7½ to 10c. Wheat speculators took careful note of the fact that Kansas City has the biggest stock ever known there, more than 8,500,000 bushels. Nebraska offerings to Chicago increased as a direct consequence of the lack of room at Kansas City. In addition, signs pointed to a liberal enlargement of the United States visible supply total, the losses by lake storms, 2,000,000 bushels having been exclusively Canadian wheat.

Corn developed strength notwithstanding dullness of the shipping trade. There was evidence of congestion in the December delivery, with the bulls being aided by rainy weather southwest. Offers from the country were notably scarce. Oats held firm despite meagreness of demand, except from the south. Primary receipts were much less than a year ago.

Competition from Ireland and Denmark at Liverpool lead to a break in provisions but foreign buying of lard here brought about a rally. Corn strength helped put the market up.

Minneapolis Grain Market

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 14.—Wheat traders found the Argentine news so conflicting that they were all at sea when the market opened. Along with one cable reducing the Argentine exportable surplus to 75,000,000 bushels came another saying that beneficial general rains had fallen.

Cash wheat was firmer for blue stem and easier for velvet chaff. No. 1 northern blue stem brought 2⅛@3¼c over December velvet chaff 1½@2c over. December opened at 82@82⅛c, sold to 82⅝ for high to 82 for low and closed 82⅝c; sellers. May closed 87⅝@87½c bid; July, 89¼c.

PROPER HOUSING FOR THE POULTRY

FRESH AIR IS NEEDED BUT DRAFTS MUST BE AVOIDED.

Freedom From Dampness an Essential Feature—Low Roofed Houses are Easiest to Heat—Poultry House at University Is Described—Relative Cost Figures are Given.

(By D. O. Barto, Poultry Husbandry, University of Illinois).

(Article II.)

In our first article we mentioned that the poultry house should be located on well drained land, facing the south, should be weill ventilated, and if it is permanent it sroudl have a concrete floor.

Proper Size.

The dimensions of the house will, of course, depend on the number of fowls the poultrymen wishes to keep in one building, but the depth of it, that is the distance from front to back, ought to be at least fourteen feet and twenty feet is still better. The roost poles are across the back, and if the house is deep the windows in the front may be kept open in almost any kind of wether without the fowls being troubled by wind or storm, but in shallow houses this is not possible and ventilation cannot be so perfect.

The essential conditions of a good poultry house are abundance of fresh air, freedom from dampness, light and cheerful, protection from cross drafts, low cost of construction and convenience for the worker.

Ventilation and light should be secured almost wholly from the front, and frecther sides may be tight. Thick walls are not necessary and add to cost. One thickness of matched siding gives all the protection needed. Of course, the roof should be tight. Shingles or a good quality of roofing paper is the material generally used.

Poultry House at University.

A house on the poultry farm of the University of Illinois that is proving very satisfactory has the following dimensions: Length, 120 feet; depth, 20 feet; height of front from roof to floor, 8 feet; height of back, 5 feet. The roof has one pitch. The south side is boarded from the floor up for 3 feet, then an opening 4 feet wide the full length of the building, above which is 1 foot of boarding. The opening in front is covered with netting of one-inch mesh, the lower two feet of which is fastened to a frame which swings free on bolts on the inside of the window frames, and serves as doors through which litter may be passed or a person may enter. Window sash 6 feet long and 2 feet wide may be buttoned into the lower part of the opening and the upper two feet may be closed with light frames covered with very thin, white muslin. These frames are hinged at the top and may be fastened up to the rafters.

The glass windows and cloth sash are used only in the cascof storms when rain or snow should beat in if the windows were open.

The roosts in the rear are 3 feet from the floor. This leaves a space of only 2 feet above the roosts to the roof and the heat radiating from the bodies of the hens is not lost as would be the case if the roof were higher. The roof of the poultry house should be kept as low as the convenience of the worker inside and the admission of sufficient sunlight will back in the house will accuit.

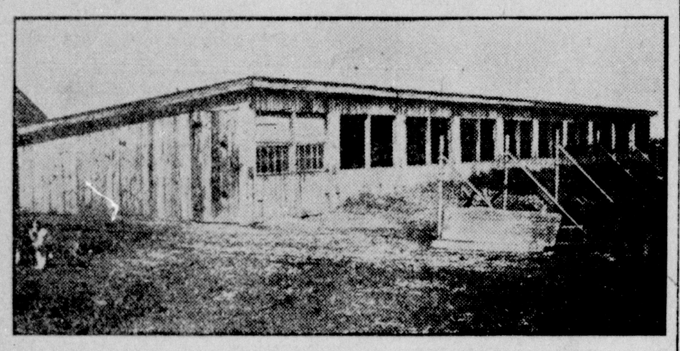

Where smaller birds of the Leghorn type are kept, it may be well to give them still more protection at night in very severe weather and this can be done by enclosing the roosting space with light frames covered with thin, cheap muslin and dropping a light curtain of the same material from the rafters down to a level of the roosts in front of them. This will confine the warmth of their bodies and still allow plenty of fresh air.

The use of dropping boards under the roosts is to keep the whole floor space clean for the hens to scratch and feed in the litter. Unless the pens are of good size dropping boards are desirable, but they should becleaned and covered with dry dust each morning for sanitary reasons. In the large poultry house at the University of Illinois the pens are 12x20 feet and it was decided to remove the dropping boards and by setting an 8 inch board on edge on the floor a little in front of the roosts to prevent the scratching of the dry litter back into the droppings, sufficient space is left in the front part of the pens for feeding and by throwing a little dry litter under the roosts each morning it makes it unnecessary to remove the droppings oftener than once a week. Where many hens are kept this is a large saving of time.

Relative Cost of Poultry House.

As to the cost of housing fowls no exact statement can be made, but experienced poultrymen say that a fair estimate of the cost of a good poultry house is one dollar for each bird provided for. The smaller the capacity of the house the greater the relative ost per bird. A poultry house 20x20 feet will amply house 100 fowls and a very satisfactory house of this size can be built with concrete floor for $100.

The Prairie State Incubator company, Homer City, Pa., publishes a very valuable little booklet called "Artificial Rearing of Poultry," which they will send gratis to anyone who will write for it. On page 41 of this book a house of this sort is clearly described and pictured. Send for the book.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

Why Trees Should Be Planted.

In addition to serving as a great source of wood supply, the forest exerts well known beneficial influences to human interests. These are influences: (1) Upon climatic conditions within the forest area; (2) upon the distribution and character of the water flow; (3) upon the mechanical condition and erosion of the soil under its cover, and (4) upon the sanitary and esthetic conditions of the people.

Ultimate End of Swine.

The ultimate end of all swine is the butcher's block and the animal that gets there with the greatest profit to the man that feeds him will win in the long run.

It is difficult to get your young growing sows too fat for breeding purposes provided that the flesh is put on with the right kind of food and they can run around and take plenty of exercise.

Investigation in South America.

Dr. A. J. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry, has just returned from a tour of investigation made by direction of the secretary of agriculture. Dr. Melvin's trip included Argentine, Uruguay and Brazil. In Argentine he visited the establishments preparing beef for export, visited several large ranches, and at Rosario and Palermo attended the stock shows, where many fine animals were exhibited.

The Compost Heap.

Every garden should have its compost heap, where rotted sods, waste vegetables from the kitchen, fallen leaves, lawn trimmings, and all variety of vegetable matter, mixed with soil, is piled to decay. Turn it over occasionally. If it smokes or steams, turn it over at once and wet it. Slow decay is what is wanted, not fermentation.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends Indigestion Gas, Dyspepsia and Stomach Misery in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs of indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for billousness or constitpation

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparataion, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.—Adv.

WILL SPEND WINTER IN CITY.

FRESH AIR GREAT FACTOR IN CARE OF COWS

POINTS ON SUNSHINE AND VENTILATION IN DAIRY BARN.

These Things are as Important as Good Food in Influencing Results—Efficiency Is Reduced by Lack of Pure Air—Winter Quarters for All Stock a Matter of Importance.

(By Roy E. Brand, Dairy Husbandry, University of Illinois).

This is the time of year when attention should be given to the winter quarters for stock. Look at the shelter you are providing for your dairy cattle and see if it is all that could reasonably be expected.

Glas and sunshine are not expensive. A stable should be provided with windows through which the sun can shine. Boards or gunny sacks over broken window lights are signs of shiftlessness. The absence of windows in stables shows lack of knowledge regarding the requirements for the health of cattle. Yet this year many barns are being built without sufficient windows when at least three square feet of glass per head should be provided for dairy stock.

Benefits of Sunshine.

Sunshine is a disinfectant, a purifying and economical source of light, heat and comfort—A disinfectant because it is one of the most effective means of killing the harmful germs and bacteria that are so plentiful in stables. Besides this work of purifying it sets up air currents which help to diffues and remove the foul air of the stable, for when heated by the sun the foul air that has settled to the floor rises and if proper means of escape is afforded, passes out through the ventilators, giving place to pure air. The sealing up of a stable to keep it warm is unnecessary for if the cows are dry they are comfortable or a little above freezing and, left to their own choice, will stand in an open door or window where the air is purest even though it be the coldest part of the barn. But to expose the cows too much is not best from the standpoint of economic feed consumption. It is best to board up and seal the stable to prevent drafts upon the cows that are stanchioned, as they are not free to evadecold currents that may enter during a storm.

Special openings for sunlight and pure air that will not create a draft may easily be provided by cutting holes in the walls just under the ceiling and hinging window sashes into them so that the sash swings in from the top, leaving an adjustable opento evade cold currents that may enter. The triangular openings at the sides of the windows may be closed with triangular boards nailed on each side of the window openings.

Ventilating System.

The cool fresh air entering at the top of the stable forces the warm impure air to rise and pass out if special outlets are properly arranged. These outlets,long rectangular shutes extending from near the floor up through the cupola may be made of two layers or one-half inch matched ceiling with a layer of building paper or felt placed between to make them air tight. These outlets should provide a cross sectional area of 24 square inches per cow, an economical size being 2x2 feet. With these provisions a constant exchange of air is automatically kept up all day and night and the cattle receive a fair share of air, one of their most important foods—important because upon a proper oxygen supply rests the successful liberation of the food and heat units in the food consumed. Good food may be lost—passed through the body—for lack of proper assimilation due to an insufficient amount of oxygen to permit the blood to throw off its impurities and take up new wholesome food materials.

The man operating a gas engine has learned that he must supply the ignition with air as well as gasoline and to secure the best results the air supply must be abundant or the efficiency of the fuel and the economy of the machine is lost. You can clog up her system and reduce her efficiency by cutting off her supply of fresh air. The man with the engine will readily pay a good price for an appliance which will properly feed air into his engine cylinders because he can see that it increases the efficiency and cuts down operating costs, but the dairyman is slower to appreciate the fact that a proper supply is just as important to the functioning of the cow as it is to the engine.

The Cow Is a Machine.

If a cow is to perform properly she should be provided with the necessary food and care. The engine will not run if clogged with grease, carbon and rust; if not properly housed, protected from the weather, and cared for, its useful life is greatly decrased. The cow is a machine in a certain sense and vastly more capable of supplying and looking out for her wants than the gas engine, but the providing of proper care, shelter and an abundance of food is the man's task.

In comparing the amount of air a cow requires with the amount of other foods she consumes Professor King in his book on ventilation says: "A cow would require six full pails of pure air each minute of the day," and that she "consumes twice the weight of air that she does of food and water combined." Stack up a day's ration, water included, weigh it and then consider what an equal weight of air would be, then if the cows have not the proper proportion of air distributed throughout the 24 hours, a way of providing it should be arranged.

It should be remembered that glass ,sunshine and air are plentiful and cheap and are highly desirable in a cow stable as plenty of fresh air and sunshine in the barn is one of the best ways to keep the herd healthy.

PASTURING WHEAT IS NOT PROFITABLE

Fall Growth Useful as Protection Against Freezing and Thawing—Prevention for Worms in Pigs.

Some people have asked me about pasturing their wheat, which has made a rank growth this fall, due to the favorable weather. It is quite a temptation to utilize this growth for feeding, but this can only be doneat the probable expense of the crop to be harvested next year. Experiments in pasturing wheat indicate that a loss of one or two bushels per acre may be expected even with light pasturing in the fall and winter, while if the stock is left on in the spring the loss is greater. The fall growth is useful as a protection for the plants against alternate freezing and thawing. When the weather gets cold and the tops wilt down, it affords considerable protection. This young growth is very watery and gives a relatively small amount of nourishment, so that really little feed is secured by pasturing. Ordinarily, wheat goes into winter with less top than it needs, because it is necessary to sow late in order to avoid injury from the Hessian fly. The fly is very apt to attack wheat sown before September 15 and 20.—E. T. Robbins, agricultural adviser of Tazewell county.

Preventing Worms In Pigs.

I have had some inquiries about treating pigs for worms. Copperas is commonly used for this, which is quite cheap. Treatment is as follows: Mix copperas, which is sulphate of iron, in the slop for five successive days at the rate of one dram of dry copperas for each 100 pounds in weight of pigs. The copperas is best used by dissolving in water first and mixing it in slop. It is well to repeat this remedy about once a month during the summer and fall. One pound of copperas costs 10 cts. and is enough for one dose for 100 pigs weighing about 100 pounds each. The pigs should be hungry when fed this dose and should be fed rather lightly during the days that treatment is given.

It is unnecessary to keep dosing pigs or any stock continuously to help them resist disease or parasites. If animals are given pure water and plenty of suitable feed and good care so as to keep them in vigorous health they will thrive as well as it is possible for them to do. If they are sick or have worms, lice or other parasites, special treatment to correct the trouble is needed temporarily. When they are again in good health further treatment is unnecessary. Many pigs are lousy now and this prevents them from thriving. They can be quickly freed from lice by dipping or sprinkling thoroughly with kerosene solution, cold tar dip solution, or crude petroleum.

Plan Farm Improvements.

Farm implements need to be carefully planned. It pays to put up permanent buildings if one knows just where he wants them. The other morning, I was on the farm of R. W. Vogelgesang of Washington and found him planning where he would put concrete work, which he expected to last him for years. He is planning the location of various buildings and also for a water tank and concrete feeding floor, so that when he gets through with the work he will have his equipment arranged to be handy and satisfactory for all time. He is planinng his fences in the same way so that his fields will have long corn rows and will be convenient in handling stock, and rotating crops.

He is planinng his improvements for ahead and putting them in gradually as he is able to do it. A short line of tile, which he put in last fall made it possible for him to raise a big crop of peas that much more than paid for the improvement.

J. V. Willhardt is another farmer in the neighborhood of Washington who is improving his place with the idea of permanent satisfaction with his work. His hip roofed barn put up last year in a fine model of its kind. It is economical of material and space and convenient to work in.

Many of the farm buildings which were put up years ago are beginning to need replacing and it pays to figurecarefully the location and kind of construction which will give most satisfaction for many years to come.

CLOVER'S PLACE IN AGRICULTURE OUTLINED

PEORIA COUNTY ADVISER SUGGESTS POINTS ABOUT SEED.

Difference in Quality Is Dependent Largely Upon the Time of the First Cutting—Yield Affected by Pollination and Insec Injury—The Bumble Bee Theory.

(By Henry Truitt, County Agent, Peoria County).

Clover hulling is just about over, and the yields of various fields throughout each neighborhood are pretty fresh in the minds of all. Accordingly, now is an opportune time to look back and endeavor to explain so far as possible the cause for the varying yields, and to establish the factors upon which large yields are dependent.

The "clover seed" end of farming has long been and is even yet quite neglected Of all the branches of agriculture this has been perhaps one of the least understood, and, as is but natural under such conditions, both success and failure has long been considered in this connection as a matter largely of chance. So then, understanding is not likely to soon come until the farmer sits right down to "figure it out," and right now is just as good or a better time than any.

Cutting Date Important.

During the last six weeks I have seen at least a hundred farmers. Everywhere I have gone and with everyone I have met, I have taken up this quesetion of clover seed and have repeatedly questioned the farmers concerning the various yields in their locality. I have been particular to inquire into the conditions accompanying these various yields, and from all the information thus acquired—from the unanimity of every answer—it is very evident that the success of the clover seed crop is dependent upon one factor more than all others combined. I refer to the date of cutting the first crop. Without a single exception the farmers have told me that the man in their neighborhood who cut his clover earliest obtained the largest yield of seed. Nor was this only true of this one year, for many have gone so far in thesolution of the problem to have observed that this is but of usual occurrence. Many have stated that they have noticed this repeatedly, and have gradually come to expect such results, but few of these have understood the reason why.

To omit from our consideration all effects of seasonal influences which of course can never be controlled, the yield of clover seed can be said to depend practically entirely upon two factors, thus: First, pollination, and second, insect injury.

Study Is Demanded.

Obviously the yield of clover seed is first dependent upon how many seed are formed, or "set" as it often expressed, and since this is a much more complicated problem than in thecaseof corn o any other crop, it demands our closest study and consideration. With corn the pollen, the fertlizing element, is carried by the wind; with clover, it is carried by insects, chiefly the bumble bee, and to some extent by long tongued honey bees.

Though it was once generally thought that perhaps other insects were able to carry the pollen from one clover plant to another, it is now a practical certainty that the bumble bee is the most important insect in this respect, and hence it follows that the number of clover heads "fertilized"—the number of heads that "set" seed— is first of all dependent upon the relative abundance of the bumble bee.

Bumble Bee Theory.

We will consider this so far as theory. Let us look to see how this "theory" fits in with the actual results. Here is John Smith, who cuts his clover earlier than any of his neighbors, and his seed crop comes on earlier than any of the adjoining fields. There are just as many bumble bees in that community, and without intending to shower any blessing on John Smith they all flock to his ripening clover field because it is the "earliest" in the locality. His field therefore receives a very thorough "fertilization" and a great majority of the heads "set" seed. As a natural result, other things being equal, he obtains a good yield of seed. His neighbors do not believe in early cutting, for they want the hay—all of it they can get and so do not wish to make any sacrifice of the first crop. For this, or other reasons they delay their first cutting until a couple weeks after John Smith and then by far the great majority all cut at once. When their seed crops come on they do so all at once, so to speak, and soon there are not enough bumble bees to "go round." Consequently, these vast majority of fields which come into bloom more or less at the same time are never thoroughly "fertilized" and hence the rapidity with which the clover passed through this favorable time for palonizing. As a general rule, however, these fields never yield as much seed as the earlier crops on account of the relatively much greater abundance of the bumble bees when the clover comes on more or less "out of season."

Some may be inclined to laugh at this explanation and the belief that such a thing as a bumble bee has anything to do with our clover crop. It should not be ignored, however, as further proof or testimony, our common red clover could not be made to produce seed in the Philippine Islands until the bumble bee was taken there. After the bumble bee was thus "imported," however, their clover produced seed just as well as it does with us.

YOUNG WOMEN SERVE IN CAFETERIA CLASSES

NEW LINE OF WORK IS GIVEN AT UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS.

Is Really Part of Course in Home Economics—Movement was Inaugurated at Simmons College—Opportunity is Afforded Students of Food at Low Cost, Together With Good Training Points.

(By Maud E. Parsons, Director of Lunch Room,University of Illinois)

With the development of home economic courses, universities and colleges are giving attention to improving living conditions in institutions as well as in the home. Young women are being trained to take charge of these larger homes such as the college dormitory, the hospital, i. e., the part pertaining to the care of the house, and the food of the patients and employes, the cafeteria in the school, in the Young Women's Christian association, and in the large commercial and manufacturing plant where special consideration is given to the welfare of the employes. Such positions require technical knowledge and experience, and high salaries are paid to women possessing the necessary qualifications.

Simmons college, Boston, initiated the movement. Chicago, Cornell and Illinois universities now have courses in this work and cafeterias which serve as practice fields for young women who desire this training.

The Cafeteria Plan.

The cafeteria at the University of Illinois was opened April 16, 1913.

Corner of the Cafeteria, University of Illinois.

It is located on the second floor of the Woman's building, and from the long French windows one has a fine view of the south campus. The dining room is finished in the colonial style with white trim and mahogany finish doors. The tables and chairs are also of mahogany finish; the tables are small, seating from four to six persons. One of the unique and attractive features of the room is a wooden screen six feet high that serves to separate the counter where the food is served from the dining room proper.

Besides the dining room is a dishwashing room and kitchen. The equipment is very complete and consists of an electrical elevator, dishwashing machine potato peeling machine, gas ranges, large work tables, sinks, cupboadrs, steam heated soup kettle and vegetable cooker, coffee urns, plate and cup warmers, steam tables, refrigerators for storage and for the serving of salads,cold desserts and ice creams, as well as various hand power machines and labor saving devices, such as potato masher, slicer, French fry cutter. and ice chopper.

The dining room seats about one hundred, but the service is continuous for an hour and an average of two hundred per day are served durthe the school years with the exception of Sundays and national holidays.

Some Prices Quoted.

The service is that known as the "cafeteria plan," in which each person takes a tray and passes to the steam tables and counter, where he is helped to whatever he wishes, then is checked and seats himself at a table. This plan requires fewer waiters and the money saved in this way is expended to procure a better quality of food. The following is a typical menu:

| | |
|---|---|
| Cream of tomato soup, crackers. | 5c |
| Bacon and eggs | 10c |
| Roast beef hash | 8c |
| Escalloped potatoes | 5c |
| Baked sweet potatoes | 5c |
| Creamed asparagus | 5c |

| Apple pudding | 5c |
| Vanila ice cream | 5c |
| Cherry pie | 5c |
| Coffee | 5c |
| Tea | 5c |
| Milk (½ pint bottled university dairy | 5c |

Thework of serving, of gathering trays and clearing the tables as well as checking and cashiering is done by university girls who are paid by the hour with the exception of those who are doing the work for practice and credit. It is worthy of note that the girls who choose to do this work are students of the highest character and ability.

Valuable Training.

Thus aside from serving as a laboratory for the lunchroom management class, the cafeteria offers employment to a number of college girls about ten at a time, and incidentally these same girls gain considerable knowledge and experience from the work. It also offers a nattractive place to the people of the community where good food is served at a moderateprice. Indeen one of the purposes in starting the cafeteria was to serve food of a sufficiently high character so as to set certain standards of excellence as regards the serving of food in large quantities.

In order to take the lunch room course the student must be of senior standing, have had a year and a half of work in food dietetics, household management, and economics. The class work consists of six hours laboratory practice per week in the lunch room for one semester, entire charge of the lunch room for one week, and lectures and quizes dealing with the administration of a lunch room and also with the history of the work of feeding school children.

G. A. Sieber returned yesterday from Franklin where he has been for several days putting up the electric fixtures in the new Methodist church to be dedicated Sunday.

HENRY CLAY BARNABEE CELEBRATED BIRTHDAY

Veteran Singer and Comedian Is Honored By His Friends.

Boston, Nov. 14.—At his cheerful and pleasant suburban home near Boston Henry Clay Barnabee, the veteran singer and comedian who for nearly a quarter of a century was the idol of countless theatre patrons throughout the country, celebrated the 80th anniversary of his birth today, surrounded by his numerous friends in and around Boston and overwhelmed with messages of congratulation from all parts of the country Mr. Earnebee, who retired from stage life years ago, is still enjoying good health and his years rest lightly upon him.

Mr. Barnabee was born in Portsmouth, N. H., Nov 14, 1833, and after having received a public school education came to Boston, where he obtained a position os a clerk in a dry goods house. He joined the Mercantile Library association and frequently took part in the entertainments given by the association. It was thus that he made his debut, by reciting serious poetry at entertainments. Accidentally he discovered that he had talent as a humorist and a beautiful voice. He developed both gifts and became one of the most noted church singers in and around Boston. He made his debut as a profesisonal singer in 1865, and after a number of years of lyceum work, became one of the founders of the Boston Ideal Opera company in 1879. In 1887, with Tom Karl and W. H. Macdonald, he organized the Bostonians, with which company he remained until he retired.

LECTURE ON SOIL CULTURE.

Friday, Nov. 21st at 2 p. m. at a place to be announced, the court house if practicable, Dr. W. E. Taylor will give a free lecture in this city on soil culture. Dr. Taylor has had a peculiar experience and comes as a practical man to talk on a subject on which he is well qualified from actual experience to speak. Some years ago he was appointed superintendent of the state insane hospital at Watertown, in a sterile region mainly composed of barren hills which would produce but little and at the expense of great labor.

Though at that time he was not a practical farmer he devoted his attention to the indifferent soil about him and with such good results that he had "blossom as the rose." His remarkable success attracted wide attention and it was felt that he could do much more good telling people how to improve the soil than he could accomplish as head of the insane hospital and hence he has been called to the lecture field.

CONCERNING LEAVES.

A short time ago the Journal called attention to the fact that too many persons burn leaves against the limestone curbing o paved streets. Now comes another difficulty; too many leaves raked into the paved street obstruct water flow and fill manholes. There are so many of these they will enevitably cause trouble as it is not likely they will be dry enough to burn this fall. And here too it may be in order to warn persons having homes in shaded premises. Loof to your gutters and valleys before leaves obstruction cause you trouble.

STOP FOR STREET CARS.

A feature of the recent ordinance should be understood by all and its enforcement has been causing some trouble. When a vehicle of any kind automobile or otherwise, approaches a street car which has stopped to discharge passengers it shall stop within ten feet of the car if it is on the side from which passengers are alighting. This is a reasonable provision yet some feel it to be an injustice. All should understand it.

RAILROAD NOTES.

A big coal "drag," or train, blocked things in the city yesterday morning a while, causing the north-bound passenger train on the Burlington to back to the siding to let it by and the C., P. & St. L. south-bound passenger to sidetrack also.

H. W. Crawford, division freight agent of the Burlington, with headquarters at Rock Island, visited local officials recently.

F. L. Chase, division passenger agent of the Alton, with offices at Springfield, called on Jacksonville officials yesterday.

The local freights on the C., P. & St. L. were annulled yesterday and run as extras.

Local freight business keeps up quite well with the different roads passing through this city.

At the Car Shops.

There isn't room for No. 61 in the shops and the men are wrecking her in the yards. One cylinder is broken and she will need quite a lot of repairs and will be a good one for service when she is sent out on the road again.

Caboose No. 12 is just about ready to leave the shops and will be a fine piece of work when on the tracks for business.

New No. 68 is progressing apace. Her cab is now in place, her equalizers are in readiness, her big wheels will shortly go under her, her asbestos coat is covered with the wooden jacket and over that the sheet iron is rapidly going in place. Her pilot beam is in place and she is drawing near completion. Supt. Ingrund is watching her closely and his fine intelligence, experience and ability will be well demonstrated.

Engine No. 31 is in the round house for some minor repairs and is expected to be in service in a few days.

Charles Johnson has been employed in the store room.

Edward Brunk has been called to Springfield to be there temporarily while the rush is on.

Lou Magill, foreman in the car department, is pushing to completion two new dump cars which are nearly ready for business.

Frank DeFrates of the blacksmith shop is laying off to nurse a bad finger which has been giving him a great deal of trouble.

Charles Meder has resigned the position of foreman in the machine shop which he has held for some time.

John Clancy has been appointed foreman in the machine shop in place of Charles Meder, resigned.

Baggage car No. 17 is undergoing complete changing to a combination car and when ready for service will be a combination mail, baggage and passenger car to be used in connection with the motor service on the main line. The car is being pushed right along to completion.

Henry Hackett has resigned his position as boiler-maker and has left the city.

Coal car No. 1872 is undergoing repairs.

The paint shop is well occupied now with the cars and the tender of new No. 68. This work has not been undertaken but will soon be done when once the men get at it.

SETTLE CLAIM IN FULL.

At a recent meeting the directors of the Modern Woodmen passed on the death of George Hocking, who was electrocuted at the light plant, and allowed his claim of $3,000 in full. In a letter to Louis Piepenbring it was stated that although the by-laws now contain a clause which terms his occupation hazardous, at the time of his adoption twenty-one years ago that was not a part of the by-laws.

TURKEY CROP GOOD.

The turkey crop in Morgan Co., unless all indications fail, will be better this year than for several years heretofore, according to the statement of a dealer yesterday who had just purchased a large consignment of extra fine birds. The price remains high, however, for the demand throughout the country remains strong. Among the raisers who have disposed of their turkeys is Mrs. James Cosgriff of southwest of the city who received $106 for her drove of 46 birds.

LAST WORK ON CHURCH.

The last work in connection with the Franklni M. E. church is on the pipe organ and will be finished today. The wiring was completed and the lights were turned on for the first time Thursday.

Remedy as Bad as the Disease.

"On the seventh of February I contracted a severe cold followed by a cough and final loss of voice. I tried many remedies none of which did me any good. I then went to my family doctor and he swabbed my throat five or six times with some abominable stuff. I think it was beneficial but the remedy was as bad as the disease. At last the thought struck me—why not try Chamberlain's Clugh hRemedy. I did so and this morning my voice is fairly good and is gradually growing better," writes H. C. Clay, publisher of The Reporter, Rapid City, Manitoba. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

FUNERALS

Slack.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary E. Slack were held at the Christian church in Franklin Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Peter Kittel, assisted by Rev. J. W. Kettle. Music was furnished by the church choir and the many beautiful flowers were cared for by Mrs. Robert Clayton, Mrs. Martha Lacey, Mrs. Frank Bubb, Miss Nellie Anderson and Miss Beulah Hart.

Interment was made in the Franklin cemetery and the bearers were: G. D. Roberts, H. G. Wyatt, N. Z. Reinbach, J. P. Woods, J. E. Stice and W. R. Hills.

Among those from Jacksonville who attended the funeral were Mrs. Walter Lacey, Mrs. Frank Bubb, J. E. Stice, Robert Leggett, Miss Beulah Hart and Miss Nellie Anderson.

Mary E. Clayton was born October 6, 1832 and died November 12, 1913, aged 81 years, and 26 days. She was a daughter of W. C. and Minerva Clayton who came to Illinois from Kentucky in an early day. In September, 1859 she was united in marriage to William A. Slack who preceded her in death May 10, 1905. They were the parents of three children: Hiram Francis who died in infancy, Mrs. Mary Bell Seymour of Jacksonville and Henry Slack residing on the old homestead, one mile west of Franklin. Mrs. Slack became a member of the Methodist Episcopal church when 20 years of age and since that time has been a faithful and devoted christian. At the laying of the corner stone of the new Franklin M. E. church recently Mrs. Slack was one of the six living who had been present when the old church was built.

Thirty years ago Mrs. Slack was stricken with blindness and during that long period she bore her affliction patiently. Mrs. Slack was a woman who was admired by a wide circle of friends and she never failed to recognize any of the kindnesses shown her by others. For the past thirty years she has made her home with her only daughter, Mrs. C. N. Seymour, who has tenderly cared for her.

Besides her son and daughter, Mrs. Slack is survived by seven grandchildren and eight great grandchildren who will ever hold her in loving remembrance.

Houston.

The funeral of Mrs. Roswell Houston was conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence in Arenzville, Rev. H. J. Floreth, pastor of the M. E. church, officiating. The singers were Mrs. J. M. Swope, Miss Lola Schaffer, Joseph Dresbaugh and Charles Schaffer. Mrs. Dresbaugh presided at the piano. The beautiful flowers were cared for by Misses Mabel Evans, Florence McElroy, Maud Weeks and Eloise Bates.

Interment was made in the Arenzville cemetery and the bearers were George MacElroy, Edward Heirman, Walter Evans, J. A. Weeks, John Hostetter and George Englebach.

Mrs. Houston died Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock after an illness extending over eight months. She was born in Brown county fifty years ago. She had been married twenty-six years and she is survived by her husband and the following children: Gladys, Garnett, Genevieve, Chelsea Houston. She also leaves her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Richards. She was a woman highly regarded in the community and her passing away has removed a loving mother, a true wife and a kind neighbor.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Mrs. A. Thompson of South Fayette street entertained a party of children Friday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock in honor of the 5th birthday of her son, Abner, Jr. Twenty-four young friends of Master Thompson were present and the affair in all respects was very enjoyable. The decorations were in keeping with the idea of Thanksgiving.

Mrs. William Huffman entertained the Monday club Thursday evening at her home at 707 West College avenue for their monthly open meeting. Delicate refreshments were served and an evening of real enjoyment was passed by the forty guests present.

The South Side circle spent a very pleasant afternoon Friday at the home of Mrs. W. W. Gillham, 930 West State street. "Grand Opera," the paper by Mrs. E. C. Carpenter, was a well prepared production and a comprehensive exposition of the subject. Musical illustrations of some of better known operas were given by Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. A. M. Roberts and Mrs. Julian Hall.

Next Friday at 2:30 the circle will meet with Mrs. George M. Fuhr, 123 East Morton avenue, and the paper will be presented by Mrs. J. W. Follansbee. She will take as her subject, "Industrial Progress," a discussion of the difference between "grandmother's way and ours."

WOMAN VOTERS TO FORM PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

Meeting Called For Purpose This Afternoon at the Y. M. C. A.

All women of Jacksonville precinct who are interested in the betterment of the city are invited to attend a mass meeting this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., at which will be formed an organization of the woman voters. It is especially desired that a representative be present from every voting district and that the district committees are requested to see as many of their constituents as possible with requests to attend the mass meeting.

This mass meeting was decided upon Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of district workers in the late woman's headquarters in the west room of the association building. The views of various speakers were heard who favored a permanent organization and a committee on constitution and nomination was appointed to report at the meeting this afternoon.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way, when the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, Ohio.—Adv.

SURGEONS HOLD NOTABLE CHICAGO CONVOCATION

One Thousand Granted Fellowships in American College of Surgery—Dr. Carl E. Black One of Twelve in Illinois Outside Chicago—Purpose of Organization.

In Chicago recently the Congress of Clinical Surgeons of North America held their fourth annual meeting and at the same time the American College of Surgeons, organized a year ago, held the first meeting. That the two bodies met at one time was merely an incident. The College of Surgeons is now made up of 1,000 members of the profession from the United States, Canada and Mexico and 115 members have been chosen from Illinois. Of this number 103 are residents in Chicago and twelve in down state cities. Dr. Carl E. Black of Jacksonville being included in the list. Others outside of Chicago are Joseph B. Bacon, Macomb; Edward M. Bench, Galena; Robert J. Christie, Jr., Quincy; Clifford U. Collins, Peoria; George L. Eyster, Rock Island; George N. Kreider, Springfield; C. F. Newcomb; W. K. Newcomb, Champaign; O. L. Pelton, Sr., Elgin; J. F. Percy, Galesburg; E. M. Sala, Rock Island.

The Congress of Clinical Surgeons program consisted altogether of clinics held during the days at the hospitals and medical schools, and papers and demonstrations in the evenings.

As stated before the College of Surgeons was organized a year ago but has recently got well under way and the convocation held Thursday in the gold room of the Congress hotel was for the conferring of fellowships upon several hundred members. When it is remembered that all the surgeons appeared in cap and gown and that the gowns are of purple with scarlet hoods and caps of like colors, one can imagine what a notable appearance the company at the congress must have presented. The principal address of the occasion was delivered by Sir Richland Goodlee of London, president of the Royal College of Surgeons of England. He served as chief surgeon for King Edward and is a nephew of the great English surgeon, Sir Joseph Lister. The American college is patterned largely after the English college and has the same purpose. One thousand members were chosen this year, a like number will be selected next year and afterward admission will be by examination. The expectation is to eventually make it necessary for men who practice surgery to have the sanction of this organization and pass its educational tests as well as the present legal requirements. That Dr. Black should be one of the twelve down state surgeons chosen this first year is a recognition of his ability and standing throughout the state.
